

MINOR LOCALS.

In the city jail there are eighteen prisoners and eight city cases. Of the state prisoners, there are four colored women and four white men, and of the city cases there is one woman. There are also two United States prisoners in the city jail.

The pan for the slag of the new West End furnace arrived from Pittsburgh yesterday, and is another evidence that work on the pig iron maker is progressing satisfactorily.

Boys and children hats at E. Goetz's, 21 Salem-avenue. nov14-1.

Two carloads of piping were received by the Roanoke Gas and Water company yesterday.

The Roanoke Brewery.

Mr. Louis A. Scholz, of Baltimore, business manager of the Roanoke Brewery company, is expected to be here by the 2nd of January with his family, and will go to work on the erection of the brewery at the site for which has been already located near Over's lime kiln in the eastern part of the city. Tracks from the Norfolk and Western railroad will be laid at once, and contracts for wood and masonry will be made in a few days. Mr. H. Crenger, the originator of the plan to erect a brewery, has already succeeded in securing over $100,000 in subscriptions, a large portion of which was obtained in Baltimore and localities more or less remote from this city. He deserves much praise for his energy and perseverance in working up the scheme which cannot fail to be of great benefit to this city.

The Boston Quintette Club.

Owing to the failure of Mr. John F. Rhodes, the solo violinist, of the Boston Quintette club, to catch the train while making a brief inspection of Buena Vista yesterday, there was no entertainment by the club at the opera house last night, as previously announced. Tickets purchased or complementarily issued for last night will be good for the concert tomorrow night, however, when the attendance was as large and the enjoyment as complete as it could possibly have been under any other circumstances. Do not forget that in musical talent the club cannot be surpassed and that the concert tomorrow night will be all the more exciting musical critic could require.

New Locomotives.

Mr. Charles Brown, trial engineer of the Norfolk and Western railroad company, made a very satisfactory test Friday of engine No. 38, from Rogers' engine works, at Paterson, N. J., and started the monster locomotive on the road for regular duty. The engine was also tested yesterday, and worked admirably. No. 29 is at the machine works, being prepared for a trial test early this week. All of these engines are made of the model of the Iron Mountain railroad engine, which was tried on the heavy grades in western Virginia some months ago and found to meet a long-felt want in the transportation of coal in the mountainous regions.
